When President Hannison, impelled to the action by the aniveling policy of Praise-God WANAMAKER, recommended to Congress "the enactment of a law designed [as the News puts hij to destroy the crime breeding lotteries of this country," the News troke out into a scarlet fever of incorsement. It praised the President in the extravagant language of enthus astic admiration, and called him a courageous attacker of vice - a St George of Reform advancing to the destruction of the horrible Dragon at New Orleans. And then this meek and gentle and virtuous paper, anxious to hold its wicked lottery advertisement as long as possible, went to Holy donx's postmaster at Birmingham, and, for the purpose of gaining time, asked that presumably also godly man to telegraph to the Postoffice Department at Washingion, requesting a reply by telegraph, "giving a synopsis of the law, and when it would go into effect, all expenses to be puld by the Nece."

Whereupon Holy Howier WASA MARKE's man at Birmingham, with a wink, probably, told the Neurathat such haste was not necessary; that he would be notified, and that the News would be funformed of what it wanted to know, and all in due time.

"Accordingly"-thus the almost tearful News-"the News continued pullishing lottery advertisements uptil" its ignorance of the fact that the law was to affect had been dispelled by a formal notice given to it by the Birmingham postmaster. "Not one tota of lottery advertising has since | wonder he thinks he can advantageously appeared in those columns," says the Nees in a kind of reproachful tone.

But about noon on Friday, Septemter 26, last-the day after the day in which the postmaster had informed the blissfully ignorant News that the untilottery law was in effect-a deputy United States marshal arrested Mr. Brave N. SOCIAL PROBLEMS AND THE CHURCH.

A Divine's Views on Christiantly's Duty to the Industrial Slaves,

Bishep Healington in the October Forum Recent certified revelations have laid care the multiplied horrors and depravities of the tenement population in great cities, where forty-one out of every bundled families live each in a single room, where the roorest pay more runt than the richest for each cubic foot of space and air. These facts put it be-youd question that, in the name of a common humanity, and as sure as there is an ethical element in Christianity at all, there are social sins and human equities which have a more urgent and imperative claim on the consideration of ecclesiastical councils and of weekly ermons than any questions of disc piline, titual, hymnology or predesting tion.
